This makes the second time the Supreme Court has granted them new trials after they had been sentenced to the death penalty by the Circuit Court.

We failed, in our last issue to note the death of Mrs. Ben. Crook, of this city, which occurred at the Insane Asylum in Little Rock, week before last. Her husband went to her bedside, but she died an hour before he reached her. The husband and daughter have our heartfelt sympathy.

In The Brush.

Leaving home last week to engage in the search for the lost child, Ila McCone, the editor of this paper, went down to his ranch on the Cut Off, near where the parents of the little girl lives. Before reaching his destination, however, he received the glad tidings that the child had been found, and restored to her parents.

While out he concluded to have a "wolf-hunt," and in company with Messrs. Robert House, Will Miles, Tillman Lowe and Jas. R. Cotham, Jr., on Thursday of last week, a big hunt was started.

Being the oldest of the party and an expert woodsman, we were selected to do the "driving." Mounted on our fiery steed "Mack," with hunting-horn and gun, and followed by our faithful hounds, we headed for the whortle-berry flats where the ravenous wolves are known to stay. The other boys took "stands." With a whoop and a yell the dogs were soon breasting the brush, with well-poised heads and distended nostrils. Soon, old "Sam" a celebrated wolf-hound, and one never known to run anything else, opened on a cold trail. "George" and "Charley"—two equally noted "varmint" dogs—came thundering up from a southern direction to join in the scent. But before they reached the place, "George," in passing through a thicket, opened in hot pursuit, and the other dogs joined him. Three other hounds, "Gill," "Rock" and "Red" came down from the north and opened fire. The game was up, the chase was on, and the "man who hath not music in his soul" and would have not been charmed by such a concord of sweet sound, is scarcely worth killing. Over pine logs, through vine and briar thickets, we rushed at full speed, encouraging the "pack" with our stentorian yells. Away down in front of us just ahead of the dogs, bang, bang, rang out two clear shots on the still morning air. Steering in that direction, we found our young friend, Will Miles, up in the fork of a dogwood tree, his hair standing on its end, and his gun lying on the ground, with smoke oozing out of both barrels. Seeing us approach, he began to gesticulate wildly and, almost incoherently, uttered, "panther," "panther," climb a tree, climb a tree." The dogs had gone on east in the direction of the Cut Off bottom. Then, further on east came another report from a breech-loading shot-gun, and soon a loud-mouthed baying from the dogs was heard. This time J. R. Cotham,

FREE MEDICAL TREATMENT.

An Eminent Physician's Services at the Command of Our Readers.

Everyone is invited to Consult Him, Without Cost.

The most common seat of disease, as everybody knows, is the blood—for it has been proven that seventy-five per cent. of all human ailments are directly traceable to an impure condition of the vital fluid. The medical profession everywhere recognize that there can be no health unless the blood is absolutely pure.

They know, too, the difficulty of successfully treating blood diseases. It requires a special study and skill which the average physician has not attained in his active practice.

The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia, has prepared the celebrated blood remedy, S. S. S., has a department of medical consultation, which is in charge of a corps of competent and skillful physicians. They invite every reader of this paper who is afflicted with any form of blood disease, to write them, stating their case fully, and giving all symptoms. Everyone suffering from Catarrh, Cancer, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Eczema, Tetter, Contagious Blood Poisons, Pimples, old running sores, Chronic Ulcers, etc., should not fail to take advantage of this offer, as there is absolutely no cost whatever attached to it. Each case will be given special attention, and valuable information in regard to treatment promptly furnished by return mail. Address all letters to the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
